

Prophetic Word

Christie Landry - March 30, 2006

We're coming into the time of man that all of us have read about in the Word at different times in our life. That we truly are the generation that is going to receive the return of the Lord – we truly are that generation.

So in the midst of the world swaying and reeling and the earth groaning under the strain and the pressure of the sin of mankind for all these thousands of years – He is going to raise up a people that will praise and worship Him in spirit and in truth.

Because the very moment that we said yes, to the Lord Jesus Christ, our eternal life began. For there is no death in Him, and when we said yes to Him we said yes to Light, and darkness had to flee. But He wants us to go deeper and He wants to go higher. He wants us to spread our wings wider, He wants us to fly faster and yet He wants us to stop and stand still and listen to His voice.

He wants everything good for His children. He wants us to know Him, to seek Him, like we have never sought Him before. And in these precious times when His presence is here filling the sanctuary – if one puts a thousand, two puts ten thousand – how much more the power, how much greater is the open heaven over us when we are coming together in unity for our love of Christ and the love of our brothers and sisters together here. He wants to command the blessing, and the greatest blessing He commands is for us to know Him more – to know Him better – to know Him in a more deep way – He wants us to revel in His love – He wants us to rejoice in Him – He wants us to dance and sing on top of the mountain and when we've slid down the mountain and we're at the bottom of the valley, He wants us to raise our hands and raise our voices and say, "We praise You because You are worthy to be praised."

So tonight, as He is visiting you, just sit before Him – allow the chains, allow the fetters of yesterday and today, and the fears of the future – allow them to be broken off as He ministers to each one of you – as He prepares the way for the return of the Lord. As He empowers you with His strength – His wisdom – with His knowledge – with His glory, that you might be a light unto your family and a light unto the nations.

His desire is that each one of you shine like the stars that He created you to be.

For He knew you before you were in your mother's womb and because of that knowing, He prepared good works in advance for you to do.

So just receive His love this night, receive His love with hearts filled with thankfulness – receive the blessings of the Lord.

Know you have been chosen amongst myriad's of millions and billions of people – you were ones for which there was a breakthrough – you were ones that said yes to His love.

Christie Landry
January 17, 2006